Construction Bill Legality Is Challenged

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Constitutionality of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $16 million omnibus construction program was challenged today in a suit filed by Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell.

Cottrell's suit in Pulaski Chancery Court termed the bill a "pork barrel type of appropriation" and a potential political weapon for Faubus or any other governor.

Cottrell said his suit had no connection with the Arkansas Education Association. The AEA said last week it would file a similar suit.

Cottrell said he acted as a citizen and taxpayer.

The suit asks that the law, part of a $76 million program advanced by Faubus in the 1961 Legislature, be declared null and void.

It also asks that an injunction be issued to prevent Faubus, four other members of a State Construction Board created by the act and State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton from carrying out appropriations and fund transfer portions of the law.

The suit alleges that:

The law contains 36 separate appropriations in "lump sum amounts" contrary to a constitutional provision requiring separate appropriations bills with amounts in dollars and cents.

The law illegally delegates legislative authority to the executive branch.

The law would use tax money for purposes other than those for which the taxes were levied.

Any attempt to carry out the law's provisions would be "an unconstitutional and illegal distribution of public money."

Scoutmaster Is Blamed for Death

BELLEVEILLE, Ont. (AP)—All evidence indicates only a scoutmaster who later killed himself was involved in the kidnapping and death of 10-year-old Tommy McNevin, a police official said today.

The statement by Inspector Louis Nedham of the provincial police criminal investigation branch cast no light, however, on why the boy was tied to a tree by the neck and left to die in the snow. A coroner's report said the boy had not been sexually molested.

Parents to Return Girl to School

MEMPHIS (AP)—The parents of a pretty college freshman arrived here today to return her either to their California home or the fashionable school she fled. Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Rodden of Belvedere flew here from San Francisco for a reunion with their 19-year-old daughter, Elizabeth. They declined to discuss the case with newsmen at the airport.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Public schools will get only about half of an additional $10 million appropriated for them for the 1961-62 fiscal year by the 63rd General Assembly, Comptroller L. A. Mashburn estimated today.

"We see $5 million to $5.5 million over what the schools got last year," Mashburn said. "Whether it will go beyond that we don't know." The schools got $44.5 million last year.

Mashburn estimated the increase in school funds so the state Board of Education can set its 1961-62 fiscal policies at a meeting here Sunday.

The school districts must have some idea soon of how much money they will get so they can prepare teacher contracts for the next school year.

Most of the additional school money will go into teacher salaries.

The Legislature appropriated the additional $10 million for the Public School Fund as part of $110 million in appropriations from general revenues. Legislators knew at the time that the entire $110 million would not be available this year.

Mashburn declined to estimate what income from general revenues will be.

The last official estimate from Budget Director Julian Hogan was $106 million.

Hogan will prepare a final estimate about June 1 and this figure will be used to compute how much each state agency will get of the maximum amount appropriated by the Legislature.

Mashburn's estimates of additional public school money indicate the final total will be about $103 million.

It is not unusual for the Legislature to make appropriations over the amounts which actually become available. The governor makes some reductions by eliminating entire appropriations or individual items in the money bills. When the appropriation laws are in final form, the various departments and agencies take proper reductions from the amount fixed by the Legislature if that becomes necessary.

The suspension, the result of a conference between Kirby, Atty. Gen. Frank Holt, prosecutor John T. Jernigan and Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas, will be in effect pending the outcome of an appeal of the federal court's ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Such an appeal is expected to take several months.

Hope Ministerial Alliance announces its annual Easter Sunrise Service will be held at 6:30 a.m. Sunday, April 2, in the Hope High football stadium if weather permits.

In event of bad weather the Service will be held at Unity Baptist Church. Bringing the message this year will be the Rev. A. D. Livingston of Garrett Memorial Baptist Church.

When the Sunrise Service was originated many years ago it was always held outside. However, in recent years the service has been held indoors.

Surplus Grain Bill Signed Into a Law

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed into law his first major bill—an emergency program designed to cut down tremendous surpluses in grains used to feed livestock.

Kennedy signed the bill Wednesday less than two hours after the Senate, by a 58-31 vote, completed congressional action. The House earlier approved the compromise bill 231-185.

Before Kennedy's signature was dry, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set the law's machinery into action. Their urgency was prompted by the season—spring is here and planting of this year's feed grain crops already has started in some sections.

Freeman immediately made public the national average price supports for feed grains—corn, sorghums, oats, barley and rye. All supports were higher than last year's.

Then Freeman flew to Omaha to address today the first of three field meetings with Agriculture Department personnel. They will relay details of the program to farmers.

Freeman said Assistant Secretary James R. Ralph will address the second field meeting in Denver Friday, and Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy will talk at the third in Atlanta Monday.

Briefly, the law works this way: In order to get the new, higher price supports on corn and sorghums, farmers must cut their acreages for those grains at least 20 per cent.

In return, they would be eligible for the support price for half the average crop they would have produced on the retired land.

They can further reduce their corn and sorghum acreage up to a total of 40 per cent, and get a slightly higher payment for the second 20 per cent of land they retire. The retired land must be planted to conservation crops.

But what about the farmer who stays out of the plan, not reducing his acreage at all? He might hope to cash in on a high market price to cash in on a high market price at the end of the year.

In order to prevent this, and encourage farmers to comply, the secretary is authorized to sell some government grain in the open market, thus driving down the market price to some extent. This is supposed to make it a rather unattractive prospect for a farmer to stay out of the plan and take a chance on the market price.

The suspension, the result of a conference between Kirby, Atty. Gen. Frank Holt, prosecutor John T. Jernigan and Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas, will be in effect pending the outcome of an appeal of the federal court's ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Would Divorce to Keep Beer License

MEMPHIS (AP)—A woman

cafe operator offered Wednesday to divorce her husband if the City Licensing Commission would let her keep her beer license.

Mrs. Louise F. Smith said her husband, Bennie, and his friends had twice caused suspension of her beer license with consequent loss of income.

The four-member commission declined to vote on her suggestion. Instead, her beer sales privileges were suspended for a week and the cafe placed on probation for 90 days.

Mrs. Smith was hailed before the commission for failure to comply with an earlier order to keep her living quarters closed off from the cafe.

Russia Ends Censorship of Writers

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today abolished censorship for foreign correspondents.

The Foreign Office press director made the announcement at a news conference.

The press director, Mikhail Harlamov said he expected the removal of censorship would create new troubles for correspondents circulating unfounded rumors about the Soviet Union.

This appeared to be a direct warning that newsmen would be expelled if their reports were not satisfactory to the Soviet authorities.

Harlamov warned that all correspondents must keep a copy of all their dispatches sent abroad so long as they remain in the Soviet Union. He explained that some correspondents had insisted that some copy published abroad under their names was not of their writing. By keeping a copy of what is sent out, the correspondent can always answer this question, he said.

Censorship is being lifted, Harlamov said, to expedite the movement of copy of the foreign correspondents, who he said had increased from 15 a few years ago to 150 now in Moscow on a permanent basis. About two-thirds of these write for Communist and Socialist publications.

Previously all non-Communist correspondents have been required to submit their copy to censorship before it could be telephoned or telegraphed abroad.

Censorship has been in force in the Soviet Union since the revolution in 1917, except for two brief periods. It was suspended briefly during the summer of 1939 but imposed again when the Soviet-Finnish war started. Another brief suspension came after the war in 1946. It lasted only a few weeks.

Harlamov said that censorship has not yet been lifted on movement of photographs and television film.

UN Asked to Work on Congo Solution

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson today called on the United Nations to work out an African development program "by, and for, the Africans." He said it should be divorced from the cold war.

His proposal immediately ran into criticism from the Nigerian minister of economic affairs, Jaja Wachuku, first African to take the floor in the General Assembly's main Political Committee where debate opened on an African aid program.

Wachuku demanded concrete proposals "that are not intended to hoodwink anybody that are not intended to mesmerize us."

Stevenson immediately replied he had suggested the initiative for an African aid program rested primarily with the Africans, and that the United States was prepared to give such a program its wholehearted support.

Instead, Stevenson said, Wachuku "has suggested that the Africans want an American program for Africa."

Stevenson said he was not sure if the Africans want an American program for Africa.

$400,000 Left to Honor General

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A trust fund set up to memorialize a Confederate general will provide Helena, Little Rock and the state of Arkansas with more than $400,000.

A copy of the will of the late Biscoe Hindman, who died in 1935, and his wife, who died March 12 at the age of 86, was filed Wednesday with Secretary of State Nancy Hall.

The largest item under the trust set up jointly by Hindman and his wife is $250,000 for Helena to build a memorial to Gen. Thomas C. Hindman, Biscoe Hindman's father.

The state is to receive $100,000 for a memorial at the Prairie Grove Civil War Battlefield northwest Arkansas where Gen. Hindman fought. It is to be dedicated to Confederate soldiers.

Little Rock will receive $50,000 for another memorial to Gen. Hindman.

Grants of $5,000 each are slated for the Phillips County museum and the Helena Public Library.

The will stipulates that any funds remaining after the trust has been fulfilled by 1963 will go to the University of Arkansas for the Biscoe Hindman Memorial Fund.

Biscoe Hindman was born in Helena in 1861 and left shortly after his father was shot to death by an assassin in 1868. He moved to Louisville, Ky., where he entered the insurance business.

He later moved to Chicago and then to Santa Barbara, Calif., where he died.

Gen. Hindman was severely wounded in a battle with Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman on the famous march to Atlanta and was discharged from duty.

Following the Civil War Gen. Hindman moved to Mexico but later returned to Helena where he entered politics.

THE TWO of them, Kathy of the Graves household and Tootsie of the Lemley domicile, blithely, gay second graders out of school with Spring peeking in the buds and blooms tripped into the kitchen where my mother-in-law was practicing a forgotten talent.

She was making homemade bread, that toothsome browned-over-the-top kind. You can picture it now, with butter seeping down in a golden yellow strain and the aroma filling the kitchen. No fancy pre-sliced stuff in a package that cost more than the flour. This, on St. Patrick's Day, is the real stuff, not malarky.

"What's that?" the third graders asked, when they peeked into the oven and saw the big loaves.

Which tells a sad tale all in itself of the tragedy of the great delicacies the elders remember but no longer make, and of the youngsters who will never know the sweet thickness of fresh from the cow milk without additives of yellow pound cake with butter and strawberry preserves.

And this pleasant delight on our table Friday and Saturday reminds me to kick the bejabbers out of the next guy who makes wisecracks about "mothers-in-law".

Cooperation Asked in Disputes
 By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has appealed to management and labor to keep the national interest in mind in their disputes.

If they don't cooperate for the general good, the President warned significantly, an impatient federal government will take a greater hand in getting the two sides together.

This was the implicit, clear message in Kennedy's talk Tuesday to a group of top business executives and labor union chiefs.

He had called them together to make them policy-making partners in his administration.

"We are going into a critical phase of our national life," Kennedy told the 21-man labor-management-public advisory panel.

"We want to keep our economy free, we want labor to be free, we want management to be free. And we want to keep the federal government in its proper role."

"But we all, regardless of our politics, we all have to come to the conclusion that the general welfare is involved in every act we take."

Kennedy appealed first for the group to give "direction to the general movement of wages and prices." This was in addition to his appeals for advice on job and economic problems, machine displacement of workers, foreign trade competition and a host of other administration headaches.

The advisers—including Henry Ford II, auto magnate; George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution—buckled down to their job.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, chairman of the new group, said it was agreed the advisory committee would hold

Use Tax Plan to Bring in More Money

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Amendments to the use tax law adopted by the 1961 Legislature take effect April 1 and the state Revenue Department already is geared to administer the changes.

"We have sent out about 4,000 letters to affected persons," Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney said Wednesday. "And we're trying to answer the questions as fast as they come in."

The General Assembly tightened exemptions in the use tax law and it has been estimated the change will yield an additional $500,000 to $1 million in revenue annually.

"I wouldn't want to give an estimate," Cheney said. "Any estimate would be just a guess."

At the end of the year, we can compute how much additional use tax was collected, but some of the revenue resulting from the changes in this law will show up in the sales tax and we'll never know how much that was."

The confusion exists because the change will encourage many businesses which have been buying outside Arkansas to avoid payment of the 3 per cent sales tax to buy from Arkansas merchants meetings at least once a month; the next session being set for April 3. All meetings will be held at the White House and there will be study between sessions.

"Our competitive position abroad," Kennedy said, "is affected by the wage-price structure here at home. So this is most important in national survival. The problems of structural unemployment, long-range unemployment, are a matter of utmost concern now."

now that they will be required to pay a 3 per cent use tax on out-of-state purchases.

The use tax is, in effect, a sales tax on out of state purchases.

Under the amended law, manufacturers and processors will have to pay a use tax on all equipment and building materials (previously exempt) and on materials used in manufacture if these materials are available in Arkansas.

All materials have been exempt. The exemption has turned purchasers to out-of-state markets.

The General Assembly created four new Revenue Department jobs to handle the amended law, but funds for these positions won't be available until July 1. Between April 1 and July 1, the department will administer the law with its present staff.

"We've been feeling our way into this," Cheney said. "We have discussed the law in detail with persons who ask how the change will affect their particular business."

Cheney said industries, railroads, truck lines and other transportation agencies had sent inquiries.

Arkansas businessmen have complained, since the use tax law was passed in 1949, that the exemptions put them at a disadvantage in bidding with out-of-state businesses. The state chamber of Commerce came up with a plan to remove the inequity by writing the same exemptions into the sales tax law.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, fearing a revenue loss, threw his weight behind a bill to remove the use tax exemptions. The Legislature passed bills to effect both the chamber and the governor's plans, Faubus signed his bill and vetoed the chamber's.

The chamber and legislative opponents of the Faubus plan contended that a favorable use tax structure has been instrumental in luring industries to Arkansas.

Cheney said he doubts if this is true. "One industrialist told

Senate Okays Stop-Gap Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate completed congressional approval today on the Kennedy administration's stop-gap program to reduce the surplus of corn and other feed grains.

The Senate vote was 58-31. The measure, a compromise between versions previously passed by the two branches, passed the House Tuesday.

Senate passage came after most senators predicted the compromise—carrying only part of the powers asked by the President and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman—would not cut the huge surpluses.

The vote in the House was 231-185, with most of the opposition coming from Republicans.

Sisters to Gain Eyesight Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—In three weeks, three sisters will open their eyes, and know.

They will see as others see, or the world around them will be blurred—as it has been for years.

The three sisters were operated on for corneal dystrophy, an affliction that has plagued four generations of the Charles Specht family.

Jennie Hull, 57, of Bradford, Pa., underwent surgery Tuesday.

Lorraine Schell, 51, of Garden City, N. Y., and Reva Schneider, 44, of Miami, Fla., were operated on today.

Two Many Candidates

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Candidates out numbered voters Wednesday night at a political meeting sponsored by the Bexar County Young Democrats Club.

Politicians figured it was bound to happen. Seventy-one candidates seek the Senate seat vacated by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson in the April 4 special election.

And seeking City Council seats here in the election are 34 other persons.

Tom Smith Stadium, in General Eisenhower Park at Abilene, Kan., was named for an early frontier marshal of the town.

me," Cheney said, "that Arkansas still has the most favorable use tax law of any of the many states in which his company does business."

The revenue commissioner, then a state senator, was a co-sponsor of the original effort at use tax legislation in 1945.

"We passed a bill without exemptions and Gov. (Ben) Laney vetoed it," Cheney said. "When it was finally passed in 1949, those who opposed it had written in all these exemptions which took the teeth out of the law."

Marilyn, Joe Visit

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Marilyn Monroe and her former husband, Joe DiMaggio visited the beach Wednesday but returned to their hotel after 10 minutes when the crowd grew too large.

Marilyn told newsmen she was in Florida for "sun, rest and visit with Joe."

The former New York Yankee star, asked if the visit meant the romance which led to their brief nine-month marriage in 1954 was being resumed, replied, "We're just friends; that's as far as it is."

Safety First

Along with the many important things you have planned for the year, I hope you will find time for the practice of safety first in everything you undertake to do.

We at the Telephone Company are proud of our safety record, and we spend considerable time and money on safety programs. If an accident can be prevented our efforts are well worthwhile. Looking over some of the local safety records for the past years, I think we can see where safety pays. Safe driving is one of our daily jobs. The severest men that are in our maintenance department have a total of 726,360 miles of "on the job driving" without an accident. We of the Telephone Company are proud of this record, and we will be using safe defensive driving every day to make this record even better.

Improving Telephone Service in Hope

Today, you can reach almost anyone in town or around the country in a matter of seconds . . . by telephone.

If you're curious and want to see what's behind the telephone calls you make and receive, plan to visit our telephone central office real soon. We'll be glad to show you, or your club or school group, many of the technical changes in equipment and methods that continue to improve your service. Just call us and let us know when you're coming.

These "behind the scenes" improvements come about in two ways. A great many result from the full-time research carried on by telephone scientists. Other improvements come from ideas of telephone people working right here in Arkansas.

This teamwork between telephone people on the job and scientists in our laboratories makes an unbeatable combination. Our goal is simply this: To give you service this year that's better than last year's.

New Communications Satellites On the Way

The success of Project Echo — the communications satellite launched last year and still orbiting the earth — proved that communications signals may be transmitted over great distances by controlled satellites.

The Bell System plans to launch additional communications satellites in the future.

These experimental satellites will test transmission of voice and television signals, as well as other types of communications.

These experiments could lead to a world-wide space communications network, capable of handling television programs and overseas telephone calls.

Children Choose Father's Successor

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I was "a girl out of the sticks." I had to get married when I was 15 and my husband 25. I am now 45, have five children, four married and one girl, 14, at home.

I have been 100 per cent true but my husband hasn't. I can count seven women he has been with in out-of-town motels and night clubs. He says, "If you don't like it, pack up and leave."

A couple of years ago I was left a large sum of money. I bought a home in both our names, two cars in his name and put the balance of the money in a joint bank account. He drew all the money out, was laid off his job and says he won't work again. I had to go to work.

Finally I decided enough was enough and went to a lawyer. He said first discuss divorce with my husband and children. I did. My husband says no man will want me after 30 years with him. My daughter didn't agree. She introduced me to a man who is 39, has a 19-year old son in the Air Force, a good job and a fine home. When we went out on a date with my son and daughter-in-law, I knew I wanted to see him again.

My children say get a divorce and marry this man. My husband says the man's too young for me. He has brought me a new life and new world, loves me truly and will marry me any time. —New World

Dear New World: Yours is a unique situation: children advising a mother to divorce and remarry and, on top of that, pick out their father's successor! In the circumstances as you relate them, you are entitled to a divorce. However, you should carefully think through any step beyond that.

Even if the new man has actually promised to marry you, consider the fact that such a promise made to a married woman is not binding. Also consider your difference in ages. A six-year span would require many mutual adjustments, now and in the years ahead. I saw a sign near a road construction job today: "Stop. Then proceed with extreme caution. Beware of soft shoulders." Was that a coincidence?

Dear Helen:

Do you think it's a wonderful thing to be adopted? What does one do when told their parents are no good—believe it? —S. S. Dear S. S.: Reading between the lines I surmise you've been adopted and that your new mother, possibly in a fit of anger over something you did or didn't do, told you your real parents were no good.

Whether it's wonderful or not to be adopted depends upon the kind of parents you draw. In the past where few questions were asked, adoptions often degenerated into glorified slavery. But nowadays careful watch is kept upon parent and child and as a result the child is often happier than it would be with its own parents. If not, other arrangements are usually made.

If you are unhappy, and your letter indicates you are, go see the agency which made your adoption possible.

Dear Helen:

I am 13 and this letter is about my family. Mother and father fight an awful lot. The reasons are his beer-drinking, money and the house. Money worries my mother the most. The house needs fixing but we haven't got the money to do it. My father and brother are irresponsible.

I love my mother more than any other member of my family. She says she can't live with my father and she can't live without him. I'm trying to convince her I don't need piano lessons. We could at least save there. I have two horses but they don't eat much. I would like to earn money to help her. It's got so she can't sleep nights for worry — A Very Depressed Child

Dear Depressed Child: The Lord has a way of evening things up in life. Those who are poor in one sense may be rich in another. While your mother may not have much money, she does have a sympathetic, loving little girl; so in that sense, she's rich. Tell her. She'll feel better.

Talk to your father and brother. Ask them to help you figure out a way to make enough money to fix up the house so mother can stop worrying and sleep nights. Show them this column.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Turn Your Spare Time into Cash."

Mississippi to Crest Soon

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Mississippi River was expected to crest at Memphis sometime today after a rapid rise that sent it better than two feet above flood stage here.

The rain-swollen stream touched the 36.1-foot mark early today. Flood stage is 34 feet but the overflow for the most part drained off harmlessly into untenanted lowland areas.

The Weather Bureau said that after cresting the river would begin a slow fall, dropping off one-tenth of a foot by tomorrow and one-half foot by Saturday.

Housing Awaits Action of Cities

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Adoption of resolutions by city councils will thaw a freeze on Federal Housing Authority funds for three Arkansas counties.

Marshall W. Amis, regional FHA director, said Tuesday the resolutions would give the county housing authorities the right to build houses inside the cities.

The FHA two weeks ago froze funds for authorities in Poinsett, Howard and Logan counties, saying a 1961 law removed the right of the authorities to work inside city limits. Sen. Marshall Shackleford of El Dorado, author of the law, said it wasn't intended to do that, but only to extend to second class cities the authority to form housing agencies.

U. S. Proposes Russia Join in Tests

GENEVA (AP) — The United States proposed at the nuclear test ban conference today that the Soviet Union join in underground test blasts to help solve scientific problems of enforcing a treaty.

There was no reaction from Semyon B. Sarapkins, the Soviet delegate who got the resumed conference off to a shaky start Tuesday by advancing new proposals unacceptable to the West. But the Soviets in previous talks have refused to go along with the plan for scientific tests.

The proposal by U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean represented a renewed attempt by the American government to get a solution to the underground nuclear detection question.

This problem of differentiating between an earthquake and the explosion of an atomic device is one of the stumbling blocks preventing the conclusion of a nuclear test ban treaty.

Dean proposed that Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union agree on a three-year halt to underground tests to prevent a country from adding to its own atomic weapons system.

A scientific research program would be undertaken during the moratorium to seek positive ways of differentiating between small nuclear blasts and minor earth quakes.

Backed by British Minister of State David Ormsby Gore, the United States Tuesday offered to allow Soviet technicians to examine the insides of American nuclear devices used for this research program and to exchange data with Moscow on the findings. The United States wants the So-

Filing Deadline in Congress Race

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The deadline for filing as a candidate in the April 18 election to choose a congressman from the 6th Congressional District will be April 8. Atty. gen. J. Frank Holt said Monday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus filed papers Monday calling the election for the 18th. Mrs. W. F. Norrell, wife of the congressman who died last month, has said she will be in the race for a representative to fill out her husband's unexpired term.

John H. Jones, a Pine Bluff attorney, and Hot Springs Municipal Judge M. C. Lewis Jr. have said they also will be in the race.

Arkansas Pilot Dies in Crash

CANTON, Ga. (AP)—An inquest is planned into the death of an Arkansas flier who was killed in a fiery plane crash on his 36th birthday.

The body of Paul T. Kohler of Fayetteville, Ark., was recovered Wednesday from Pine Log Mountain after the wreckage of his red and white Beechcraft Bonanza was spotted from the air.

Authorities said the crash occurred Tuesday on a flight from Anniston, Ala., to Gainesville, Ga. The plane was owned by Peterson Breeding Co. of Gainesville. Kohler was an employee of the Fayetteville Flying Service.

Kohler's wife and two children had been planning to give him a birthday dinner on his return to Fayetteville.

No date has been set for the inquest. The plane crashed during a rainstorm and burst into flame but rain kept the fire from spreading. Kohler's body was found about 100 feet from the wreckage.

Leek's Hitting Provides Win Over Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Leek, remembered as the collegian who precipitated a war of words when the Cleveland Indians signed him off the campus, is hitting .441 for the new Los Angeles Angels.

The San Diego native continued his torrid spring swinging with a three-run homer that beat the San Francisco Giants 5-3 Wednesday and gave the Angels their first pre-season triumph over a team of major league veterans. They previously had won three games against B squads.

Manager Bill Rigney's problem is where to play the versatile Leek, 23, who was holding down third base for the University of Arizona when the Indians grabbed him. That started the verbal battle between college coaches and major league officials that culminated in a rule prohibiting such signings.

Baltimore's streaking Orioles won their fifth in succession after six opening losses by beating Cincinnati 9-4, and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates brought their record to 10-3 with a 10-1 win over the Chicago White Sox.

In other games, Philadelphia whipped Detroit 7-1 the Chicago Cubs nipped Cleveland 2-1, New York outslugged Milwaukee 14-11, St. Louis defeated Kansas City 5-3 the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Twins' B squad walloped Washington 11-3.

Leek's 415-foot circuit shot was the key blow as the Angels scored all their runs off Giants' starter Juan Marichal in the fifth inning. Ken McBride went six innings for Los Angeles, allowing only four hits, and Tex Clevenger finished up with a three-hit performance.

The Pirates, first team to win 10 games, jumped on White Sox starter Early Wynn for seven runs in the first and coasted behind pitching ace Bob Friend. Friend scattered five hits in a seven-inning outing, walking only one and striking out four.

Robin Roberts, Frank Sullivan and Art Mahaffey stopped the Tigers on six hits for the Phils and received home run support from Pancho Herrera and John Callison.

Mickey Mantle knocked in six runs with two homers, a double and single and Bill Skowron added three with a homer and two singles as the Yanks beat the Braves.

Junior Gilliam's ninth inning pinch single with the bases loaded won it for the Dodgers, who got three innings of no-hit relief from Larry Sherry against the Twins.

Hawks Even Pro Cage Playoff

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks and the Los Angeles Lakers, perennial foes in this business of pro basketball playoffs, seem headed for a repeat of last year's seven-game series.

The Hawks evened up the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs at one game apiece Wednesday night with a 121-106 decision over the Lakers.

The Eastern Division playoffs between the Syracuse Nationals and the Boston Celtics are tied up at 1-1, also. The two Eastern clubs had a day off Wednesday, but get back to the boards tonight in Boston. The Hawks and Lakers pick up where they left off Friday night in Los Angeles.

A year ago the Hawks took the deciding game of the Western playoffs from Los Angeles. Only to bow to Boston in the finals, again in seven games. The Hawks

Small School All-Star Team Named

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 6-7 stringbeans, George Fisher of Wittenberg's NCAA small college champions and Charles Hardnett of Grambling's NAIA champions, top the 1961 college basketball Little All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Also named to the first team, selected on the basis of votes from nearly 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Don Jacobsen of South Dakota State, Tom (Skip) Chappelle of Maine and Bob Mahland of Williams.

Ron Galbreath of Westminster (Pa.), Stan Kernan of McNeese, Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View, Carl Ritter of Southeast Missouri and John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's were picked as a second team.

Rounding out a 15-man squad, Wayne Monson of Northern Michigan, Dick Voris of Georgetown (Ky.), Porter Meriwether of Tennessee State, Marvin Bachmeier of North Dakota State and Carl and Lakers have battled the last four seasons to decide which one takes on the Eastern kingpins.

Chappelle, at 6-0 the smallest of the first team, was the leading scorer in the Yankee Conference. The junior from Old Town, Maine, led Maine to a second place conference finish.

Many Farms Take Part in ASC Program

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office for Hempstead County was a busy place during 1960, according to H. B. Gilbert, chairman of the County ASC Committee. The office is maintained in the county to local administrator ACP, Allotment and Marketing Quota Programs, Soil Bank, and Price Support.

Local administration of the agricultural program involves applications for participation, maintenance of records related to participating farms, execution of loan agreements and paying loans, determination of individual farm allotments, measuring crop acreages, inspecting grain and storage structures and many other matters.

Some 532 farms in the county participated in the Agricultural Conservation program. These farms carried out Establishing Cover of Permanent Grasses and Legumes, 548 acres, Establishing Cover of Rotation Cover, 136 acres of Liming Cropland for legumes, 1038 acres, Planting Pine Trees, 487 acres, Improving Permanent Cover, 2088 acres, Stockpounds and Irrigation Dams 85, Timber Stand Improvement 936 acres, Terracing Farmland 138 acres, Drainage of Cropland to Dispose of Excess Water 339 acres, Establishing Cover of Summer Legumes 2585 acres.

The acreage allotment marketing quota program required the allocation of 10,246 acres of cotton to 991 farms, the allocation of 104 peanut allotment acres to 24 farms.

Early in 1960, 74 farmers voluntarily signed Conservation Reserve contracts to take 4037 acres of cropland out of production and devote that land to grass, trees, water conservation or uses particularly beneficial to wildlife.

The county ASC office is under the general supervision of an elected committee of three farmers. Members include H. B. Gilbert, Rt. 1, Washington; William J. Schooley, Rt. 3 Hope and Moss Rowe, Rt. 1 Washington. The office details are in charge of Liming Cropland for legumes, 1038

Happenings in Spring Baseball

Tony Curry quit. Bob Shaw signed. Ed Doherty fumed.

That, in short, is what happened Tuesday on one of the zaniest days in spring training as the off-the-field maneuverings of the Philadelphia outfielder, Chicago White Sox pitcher and Washington general manager dwarfed the one field exhibition games.

Curry sent General Manager John Quinn scurrying for the aspirin bottle by taking an unannounced sabbatical before the Phils went out and lost to Pittsburgh 7-5. Reached on arrival at his home in the Bahamas, the AWOL outfielder would only say: "I quit."

Shaw ended his 23-day holdout siege by signing with White Sox President Bill Veck. No one would say whether Shaw, 19-13 last season after an 18-6 record in 1959, got the $3,000 more he had demanded earlier.

Doherty, angered when the New York Yankees sent only one established player — pitcher Ralph Terry — for their B squad game with the new Senators, fired off an angry telegram to Yankee GM Roy Hamey.

It read, in part: "Thanks for nothing. I certainly didn't schedule Richmond (the Yanks' International League farm club), but I sure got it."

So did the Senators, Richmond beat 'em 9-2.

In other games, Baltimore beat the White Sox 2-1, Los Angeles

Dodgers outlasted Milwaukee 16-15 in 11 innings, Detroit edged St. Louis 3-2, Cincinnati blasted Minnesota 10-4, Boston rocked Los Angeles' Angels 12-3, the Chicago Cubs beat Cleveland 8-6 and Kansas City defeated the Yankees main squad 4-2.

The Pirates beat the undermanned Phils with a 13-hit attack that brought across three runs in the fourth and four in the seventh while Bobby Shantz, Jack Kelly and Fred Green held Philadelphia to eight hits.

Terry worked six of the seven innings in the rain-shortened Yankee game, limiting Doherty's starters to one run and five hits, and getting solid backing from a 16-hit attack that included a 5-for-5 performance by shortstop Fritz Brickell.

The Orioles won their fourth in succession after six losses when singles by Gus Triandos and Gene Stephens and Jerry Adair's double gave them two runs in the seventh off Chicago's Cal McLish. Rookie John Papa pitched four innings of no-hit relief for Baltimore.

A two-run homer by Dodger catcher John Roseboro, his second of the game, whipped the Braves. A walk and Rocky Colavito's double brought home the clincher in the fourth for the Tigers as they made it three in a row over the Cards.

Home runs by Wally Post and Jerry Lynch paced a 16-hit Reds' offensive that subdued the Twins. The Red Sox used only one regular but Rip Repulse's single, double and homer paced an attack that was aided by six Angel errors.

The Cubs beat the Indians with four runs in the eighth—three on homers by rookies Nels Mathews, Danny Murphy and Bill Williams. The A's tallied three unearned runs in the fourth against Bob Turley to whip the Yank A team.

Historians are generally agreed that Col. Sanford C. Faulkner, a prominent Arkansas planter, composed both the story and song, "The Arkansas Traveler."

Providence, paced by 5-11 John Egan and 6-10 Jim Hadnot, whipped DePaul 73-67 and seeded Niagara, 71-68, Holy Cross, led by 6-5 Jack Foley beat Detroit 80-62 and seeded Memphis State 81-69.

In their only meeting this season the Crusaders, playing at home March 4, stopped Providence 77-72.

Dayton Goes Against Tough St. Louis Team.

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton matches its height and scoring touch against St. Louis' rugged defense while Holy Cross and Providence collide in the semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament tonight.

The opener pits Dayton against St. Louis. Holy Cross and Providence meet in the Madison Square Garden windup. The two winners will meet for the title Saturday following the third place playoff between the losers.

Dayton, the only survivor of the four seeded teams in the 12-team field, was lucky to get past Temple's small, pesky quintet in the quarter-finals Tuesday night. The Flyers, towering over their opponents from Philadelphia, overcame an 11-point deficit in the second half and won out 62-60.

The Flyers won't have as big a height advantage over St. Louis. The Billikens stress possession and defense and could make things real tough for the seeded Ohioans. St. Louis, led by Gordon Hartweg and Bill Nordmark, eliminated Miami (Fla.) 58-56 and seeded Colorado State U., 59-53.

This is the eighth NIT for Dayton. The Flyers have finished second five times but never have won. St. Louis, in its 10th NIT, copped the title in 1948.

Providence, paced by 5-11 John Egan and 6-10 Jim Hadnot, whipped DePaul 73-67 and seeded Niagara, 71-68, Holy Cross, led by 6-5 Jack Foley beat Detroit 80-62 and seeded Memphis State 81-69.

Small School All-Star Team Named

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 6-7 stringbeans, George Fisher of Wittenberg's NCAA small college champions and Charles Hardnett of Grambling's NAIA champions, top the 1961 college basketball Little All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Also named to the first team, selected on the basis of votes from nearly 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Don Jacobsen of South Dakota State, Tom (Skip) Chappelle of Maine and Bob Mahland of Williams.

Ron Galbreath of Westminster (Pa.), Stan Kernan of McNeese, Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View, Carl Ritter of Southeast Missouri and John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's were picked as a second team.

Rounding out a 15-man squad, Wayne Monson of Northern Michigan, Dick Voris of Georgetown (Ky.), Porter Meriwether of Tennessee State, Marvin Bachmeier of North Dakota State and Carl

Had to Quit Alliance, S. Africa Told

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd told Parliament today he did everything possible to keep South Africa in the British Commonwealth but finally had no other choice but to withdraw.

Verwoerd sent a message to Parliament saying he will delay his speech until Thursday, after British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan speaks on South Africa in the House of Commons.

Verwoerd returned Monday to the Commonwealth prime ministers conference in London, where Asian and African leaders had pressed him to modify South Africa's firm policy of apartheid—racial segregation.

As he drove to his office in the Parliament building, Verwoerd was booed by nonwhites on one side of the street and cheered by white students waving welcoming placards on the other side.

Critics of Verwoerd, outnumbered in Parliament by his National party supporters, claim Verwoerd planned to withdraw and actually provoked the dispute over apartheid that he claims forced him to get out.

A small riot occurred at Johannesburg City Hall Monday as Verwoerd returned. This developed when the prime minister's supporters tried to break up demonstration by the Black Sash, an anti-apartheid group.

Fist fights swirled around the four main streets of City Hall square for about 90 minutes.

The Johannesburg Rand Daily Mail, a newspaper often critical of Verwoerd, reported the City Hall outbreak under a front-page headline: "Whites Assault Africans in City."

This was clearly evident. Witnesses noted that many Negroes provoked white supporters of Verwoerd by jeering at them.

Trapped by 'God' Check Artist Says

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ronald Dean Lee, 23, of North Little Rock, told a judge here today that he was "apprehended by God" after writing thousands of dollars of worthless checks throughout the country.

Lee, who said he was recognized for rescue work in the recent flood at Hattiesburg, Miss., related that he surrendered to a Lutheran minister at Memphis after leaving Hattiesburg for fear he would be identified.

The minister accompanied Lee here, but officials didn't get the pastor's name.

Lee, who identified himself as a former Air Force flight engineer, said he had $5,300 worth of bad checks and debts scattered from Chicago to California.

He said he started writing the checks after he began drinking heavily.

Municipal Judge Milton McLees held Lee for Circuit Court on two worthless checks charges pending here.

Blames Army Housing Fuss on Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hal B. Hayes told senators today that "all hell broke loose" when he refused to repaint new military housing to please officers' wives or let officers pick out lumber for their government-built homes "board by board."

Hayes, Los Angeles builder, blamed silly and impossible demands of both military and federal housing officials for the shut-down of construction on $55 million in contracts on 24 projects at five military bases last year.

The contractor emphatically denied to the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee that he had abandoned the projects.

"We kept our people on all jobs and did not abandon them as some people would lead you to believe," he said in a statement.

"We are willing to finish every project," he said, adding that Federal Housing Administration and Defense Department officials had forced him into default.

Hayes, who previously had completed other military housing projects, said his difficulties began when the FHA demanded his firm put up cash to protect subcontractors and material dealers on a project at Beale Air Force Base in California.

The builder insisted that his completion and payment bonds more than covered all legitimate claims there and on all other projects.

The contractor said he issued an order that exact specifications would be followed on each housing project but special demands for repainting, an extra wall or other costly items by the military would be denied.

"No builder has ever defied the FHA and stayed in business," he said.

"They put the screws on us, step by step," he said.

As an example, Hayes said on the Beale Air Force Base job he let a grading contract for $260,000 and when the subcontractor defaulted was forced to complete this and bill the subcontractor who had been paid in advance of completion.

Simply Delicious Dessert Salad

Here's a luncheon beauty—a salad that's the very essence of spring. Prepared with lime-flavored gelatin and a happy union of evaporated milk, crisp nuts, celery and crushed pineapple, it will make pleasurable eating with finger sandwiches and steaming hot coffee or tea.

Lime-Pineapple Mousse

1 can (1 pound 4-ounces) crushed pineapple
1 package (3 ounces) lime-flavored gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup cold evaporated milk
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup chopped celery

Drain pineapple, measuring juice. Add water to juice to equal 1 1/4 cups. Bring to a boil. Add to gelatin, stirring until it is dissolved. Add lemon juice and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Stir in evaporated milk, nuts, celery, and pineapple. Pour into a 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with daisies, if desired. Makes 7 or 8 servings.

$110 Million for Various Agencies

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The 1961 Legislature appropriated $110 million for various state agencies in the 1961-62 fiscal year, but the General Assembly did not decide how much the agencies will get.

That decision will come from the office of Comptroller L. A. Mashburn and it will be based on the Budget Director Julian Hogan's estimate of state revenues during the period.

The Legislature appropriates maximum amounts each agency may get. Not until Hogan makes his official estimate of revenues, about June 1, will each agency know how much of the maximum allocation it will actually get.

The General Assembly knew, when it appropriated $110 million, that odds were slim that this amount would be available during fiscal 1961-62. Hogan's pre-legislative estimate pegged 1961-62 income at $106,400,000. However, he estimated revenues would reach $110 million in fiscal 1962-63, so the Legislature appropriated on that figure, recognizing the possibility that 1961-62 revenues might reach $110 million.

The possibility has faded in the face of a nationwide recession. "It appears as if the 1961-62 estimate will have to be revised downward rather radically," Hogan said Tuesday.

Hogan declined to give a preliminary estimate, but he probably will provide one later this week for agencies which want to speculate on how much money they will receive.

"Any estimate at this time would be little more than an educated guess," Hogan said. "We won't have a good idea on anticipated revenues until the May collections are in. May is our big revenue month."

After Hogan's final estimate is prepared, the comptroller's office notifies the various agencies how much operating cash it will have during the fiscal year. Regardless of how much is appropriated, the agencies have to pare their budgets to meet the available cash figure.

This, in effect, gives the comptroller's office the final say on appropriations, except in those years when revenue equals or exceeds the appropriated maximums.

Such a situation existed during the past two fiscal years when appropriations were made on an expected income of $93 million. Revenue spiraled so high above that figure that a surplus of about $17 million was built up during the two-year period. Each agency got its full appropriation.

Usually, however, appropriations exceed revenues and the comptroller's office sends out the word to prune budgets. The cuts have, at times been as high as 10 per cent. The agency decides where in its budget the saving will be made.

Hogan said his $106 million estimate was in error because it was made before the first signs of the recession. He hopes the recession will end and a predictable upturn become established before he makes the June 1 estimate.

The State Board of Education is one agency that has asked Hogan for a preliminary estimate. The board wants to inform teachers how much of a pay raise they can expect from the additional $10 million the Legislature appropriated for the minimum foundation aid fund.

Teachers won't get the full $10 million unless revenues reach $110 million. The appropriation will be reduced in proportion to the amount revenues drop below that figure.

So the agencies' biennial battle for funds is not over after the Legislature passes the various appropriations bills. Now department heads have to sit back and study revenue reports.

Refuses Rehearing for Lauderdale

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas SUPREME Court has refused a rehearing on its decision that E. A. Lauderdale, convicted in racially-connected Labor Day bombings here in 1959, must serve his three-year prison sentence.

The court a few weeks ago affirmed the prison term and a $500 fine imposed in Pulaski Circuit Court. Rehearings are seldom granted.

Unless Lauderdale appeals to the U.S. Supreme Court, the state Supreme Court clerk must issue a mandate for him to surrender and begin serving his sentence in the state penitentiary.

Lauderdale's attorneys said they were considering a U.S. Supreme Court appeal. They have until Friday to decide.

No Strong Drive, Trade Board Says

CHICAGO (AP)—Evening-up of commitments in March contracts comprised much of the transactions today on the Board of Trade and appeared to have imparted some firmness to later months.

Trade in the March deliveries ended today without any particularly strong drive either way.

Firmness in the distant months was credited to a shift of long positions from the expiring deliveries and to some short covering.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 6 cars, corn 68, oats 1, rye none, barley 12 and soybeans 17.

Objections to McKinley Brings Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day said today that because "serious questions" have been raised he will investigate qualification of Ed McKinley, Jr., Little Rock banker and lawyer, to be acting postmaster at Little Rock.

Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., who recommended McKinley for the post, promptly said "I stand by my recommendation of Ed McKinley as acting postmaster."

Alford charged that the attack on McKinley was inspired by "radical integrationists."

Alford announced last week his recommendation of McKinley for the acting postmastership.

Day issued a brief statement today saying:

"I have not asked Congressman Alford to withdraw his recommendation of Mr. McKinley. But in view of serious questions that have been raised to me about Mr. McKinley's qualifications to serve as acting postmaster at Little Rock a thorough investigation will be made by the Post Office department."

A Post Office Department spokesman said Day would stand on his statement and would decline to state what the "serious questions" were or by whom they were raised.

McKinley, a former president of the Little Rock School Board, was involved in a dispute over discharge of a group of Little Rock school teachers. The dispute was a part of the school integration crisis in Little Rock starting in 1957.

He and two other members were ousted from the board in a recall election.

Alford, in a statement, said "It is most unfortunate that the radical integrationists of our area are seizing upon a routine, temporary appointment to create another incident, and it is difficult for me to believe that the leaders of the national Democratic Party will give any credence to such emotionally inspired attack."

McKinley was reached today at Plainview, Ark., where he is president of a bank. He said he had not received any official word of the new development. He recalled that he already had been official-

Incest Gets Man 42 Years in Prison

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — A 34-year old Helena man, Johnny F. Williams, has been sentenced to a total of 42 years in the penitentiary as a result of the death last December of his 14-year-old daughter, whom the state said died after an abortion.

Williams originally pleaded innocent to a series of charges but changed the plea to guilty Monday.

Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor sentenced him to 21 years on each of two charges of carnal abuse and specified that the terms be consecutive.

Williams also was sentenced to 10 years on each of two counts of incest and seven years on each of two counts of manslaughter. Taylor made these terms concurrent with the first carnal abuse sentence.

Williams' wife, Judy, pleaded guilty to being an accessory to manslaughter and received a seven-year suspended sentence.

He notified of his selection as acting postmaster, effective April 30, when Postmaster I. C. Bellville is retiring.

Schools Are Troubled Financially

EDITOR'S NOTE — "Somewhere we have to get our message across," says the superintendent of schools in St. Louis. The message: more money needed. But the city's voters turned thumbs down all last year. This is the last of three articles on school financing problems.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — St. Louis has found an enormous rat hole and is busy shoveling dollars into it.

In March, in May, and again in November last year, the voters turned down a $24.3-million bond issue to build new schools and modernize some of the old ones. They also rejected three times a $5.2-million bond issue for school fire protection.

Because the bonds weren't passed, and the schools can't be built, the school system this year is chartering 70 buses to transport 3,600 pupils from their home neighborhoods to schools up to nine miles away.

The buses are costing the city $195,000 this school year, plus $40,000 in overtime pay for teachers who supervise the bus rides. This is $233,000 for the 1960-61 school year.

No one seriously argues here that the new schools aren't needed: six elementary schools are at double their normal capacity; 2,000 elementary school pupils are attending classes in high school buildings; 525 elementary pupils are being taught in rented church quarters; some classrooms have as many as 60 pupils.

Then why did the bond issues fail?

Apathy, ignorance, and resistance to taxes were major factors. But in St. Louis it was something more.

It was distrust of the St. Louis School Board, rocked by scandal and hint of scandal. A racial problem apparently was involved also.

Perhaps most of all, it was a state law requiring that school bond issues must be approved by a two-thirds majority. "We can get 60 per cent," one leading citizen declared, "but that last 6 per cent comes mighty hard."

St. Louis has a population of about 750,000, a drop of more than 100,000 since the 1950 census.

Much of the loss can be attributed to the flight to the suburbs, which many American cities are experiencing.

But in that same 1950-1960 decade, the average daily attendance in the St. Louis public schools rose from 80,626 to 90,581. Much of this increase has been in Negro pupils, who now make up about 45 per cent of the school population.

Many of St. Louis' problems can be traced directly to the slum clearance project in Mill Creek, a section in the near-downtown area. Negroes from Mill Creek moved en masse to North St. Louis, which had been a predominantly white neighborhood. There weren't enough schools to handle the influx of pupils, and it is these children who now are being taken by buses to other parts of the city.

"It's up north where they need the schools," said a housewife in conservative South St. Louis. "We don't need them down here. And if those colored folks think we're going to carry them on our backs, they've got another think coming."

In all three St. Louis elections the school bond issues carried by what, in suburban Parma, Ohio, would have been a comfortable majority. In February the vote was 62,236 for and 35,772 against (63.5 per cent approval). In May it was 35,826 for and 21,453 against (62.5 per cent approval). In November, it was 95,565 for and 64,755 against (59.6 per cent approval).

But in St. Louis, where it takes 66.6 per cent approval, these are recorded as just three consecutive defeats for the school bonds.

But apathy played a big part, too.

In March, the "no" votes of 11.1 per cent of the registered voters were enough to defeat the bonds.

In May, it took only 6.7 per cent of the registered voters to block their passage.

In November, the "no" votes of 18.6 of the registered voters were decisive.

"We have to keep trying," said Philip J. Hickey, superintendent of instruction for the St. Louis schools. "We just have to. Things are going to get worse as we go along."

"Our transportation costs will be much higher next year. We expect at least 2,000 new pupils, perhaps more, next fall. We can't keep those elementary pupils in high school buildings, the high schools themselves need the room."

"Nearly half our schools are more than 50 years old. Some of them go back almost to Civil War days. Some of them are fire traps."

"We'll just have to try again. Somehow, somehow, we've got to get our message across."

Shriver Gets Nod for Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed President Kennedy's nomination of R. Sargent Shriver as director of the newly created Peace Corps after bipartisan praise of his selection.

The action was a quick follow to approval Tuesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, said Shriver will "bring dedication to the job."

Only a few senators were in the chamber as the nomination was approved by voice vote.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Montana, Senate majority leader, said that under Shriver members of the Peace Corps "will, in effect, be ambassadors in other countries, each in his own right."

Shriver, of Chicago, is President Kennedy's brother-in-law.

Rules in Favor of Nursing Home

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Holl said today that former Garland County Judge J. M. Lowery acted within his authority when he struck from the tax book a nursing home operated in Hot Springs by the Second Baptist Church. The nursing home is a non-profit institution, the opinion to Tax Assessor Ralph Lowder said.

Fifty-one nations attended the first UN General Assembly session in January 1946.

Unemployment Claims Fall

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Unemployment claims for the week ending March 18 fell by nearly 1,000 below the last week of February, J.L. Bland, Employment Security Division Administrator, said Tuesday.

Claims for the week totaled 27,942, Bland reported.

The ESD report showed that some 9,500 persons had used up their state benefits since last July 1 while another 890 unemployed federal workers and former servicemen had exhausted their benefits.

Bland will be sent to Washington Friday by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to attend the expected signing of a bill by President Kennedy that would extend the unemployment benefits.

Bland has been authorized by Faubus to make arrangements with the federal government to place available benefits into the hands of Arkansians who have exhausted theirs.

Strike Talks at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — An effort to settle the 10-day-old strike of union electricians against Central Transformer Co. got under way here today.

Company and union representatives conferred but did not release any statement.

The union struck after failure to reach a new contract. The plant has continued to operate.

Fun-To-Make Table Decorations

From now on, many parties will be the order of the day as the winter season draws to a close. At this time of year there is always a stepped up interest in social activities. To help the hostess who likes to make her table decorations something new and colorful, here are some ideas. Pictured here are charming hats which may be used as table favors or place cards.

First, draw a scalloped circle on a piece of heavy cardboard, using a scalloped cookie cutter if you wish. Then draw and cut as many of these circles as you need, using pastel paper. The crowns of the hats are made of one and one-half inch balls of white plastic foam, cut in two with a sharp knife. Fasten these to the exact center of the colored circles with plastic glue or adhesive. Trim the hats with ribbon, bits of veiling or net. For the floral trimming, wrap small decorative candles in transparent saran and fasten with nylon thread. Tie several of these together with ribbon and fasten on the hat.

The making of these attractive hats may be a project for a young girl's party. Supply the makings of pattern, paper, scissors, plastic foam balls, saran, hard candies and trimming materials. Let each girl create a hat design, then award a prize for the one showing greatest creativeness.

The miniature hats also make a wonderful touch on a hospital food tray for a special day.

Says Future of Cities Is in Urban Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Urban renewal and rehabilitation is a brand new industry which holds the future of American cities in its hands, a Dallas, Tex., planning consultant told the Arkansas Conference on Planning, Renewal and Rehabilitation today.

Robert Foeller, who once helped direct the American Committee to Improve our Neighborhoods (ACTION), addressed about 200 delegates at the opening session of the conference.

"Renewal calls for a constant, dynamic program for new growth and rehabilitation of obsolescent areas," Foeller said. "Growing cities can profit by the mistakes of others."

Foeller said the time for action is now. "The longer we wait, the more it is going to cost," he said. "By starting now we can organize new development so that the same conditions will not occur as the city grows."

People, housing, commerce and financing are the four factors which must be considered in planning orderly growth and renewal of a city, Foeller said. "An effective local program is the pin gear which can make these other factors function together," he added. "Comprehensive planning starts with knowing your city," Foeller said. "A city, before it begins a development program, must determine its desires, needs and resources," he said.

Foeller said the path to renewal and rehabilitation had been made easier in recent years because residents of good neighborhoods had come to realize that substandard areas hurt the entire city.

"Yes, we have the future of the city in our hands," he said. "We can mold it or let it become moldy."

Another speaker, Franze Gourley of Columbia, Mo., said that rehabilitation had become a vital part of urban renewal because of a financing problem. Rehabilitation is a repair program; renewal calls for complete rebuilding.

Gourley said the key in any rehabilitation program is creation of a desire to rehabilitate among owners of substandard property.

The two-day conference ends Thursday. It is being held in conjunction with the Southwest regional Seminar on Rehabilitation.

R. C. Robinson of Fort Worth, Tex., director of the Federal Urban Renewal Administration, urged formation of Community Renewal Associations to draw up overall plans for community development.

Community Renewal Associations should work closely with renewal and rehabilitation agencies, Robinson said. He predicted that Congress at some future date will make CRA a pre-requisite to approval of federal funds for renewal and rehabilitation projects.

Dale Bertsch of the Tulsa, Okla., Metropolitan Area Planning Commission said objectives of CRA were four-fold: Renewal, improvement of individual properties, establishment of a continuing program and prevention of spread or recurrence of blight.

Bertsch called CRA a "step in maturing of urban renewal activities."

Negroes Rape NLR White Girl

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 16-year-old white girl was raped by three Negro men while she and a boy friend sat in a lovers lane, Police Chief Ray Vick said today.

Vick said the attack occurred 11 days ago and had been concealed while police checked out leads in the case. He said six or eight Negroes had been questioned but that the leads had not turned out.

Vick said the girl and her 18-year-old companion were parked on top of Cherry Hill, a popular parking spot, when the Negroes seized the girl and held the boy at bay at knife point.

"The Negroes forced the girl to disrobe, then raped her, Vick said. The girl was left lying naked and hysterical, Vick said. The boy drove until he found a police car.

The girl was treated at a hospital, Vick said.

May Start New Sevenue Building Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Construction on a new $1.6 million Revenue Department building could start as early as July 1, Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney said today.

All that's holding it up, Cheney said, is a decision on where to put it. He said he would meet in a few days with Secretary of State Nancy Hall, who has supervision over the Capitol grounds, about a site.

Some Capitol sources listed two potential sites — one behind the Highway Department building and the other on the north side of the Capitol mall.

The Highway Department area would make the building cramped for parking, these sources said.

New Jury Panel for Retrial

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Quashing a jury panel and selecting a new one with more Negroes on it may be the only solution to a trial court question raised by a federal court decision, Circuit Judge William J. Kirby said Tuesday.

Kirby delayed all jury trials of Negroes after the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned the conviction of Luther Bailey, a Negro, who is under death sentence on a rape charge.

The appellate court noted that while the other location would provide additional parking space, Cheney has said the new building will have plenty of parking space.

Mrs. Hall said today she hadn't decided on a location. The 1961 legislature authorized the building and raised the fee of automobile title certificates from 50 cents to $1 to finance it.

the two civil divisions of circuit court had not had a Negro juror since 1939. Civil division jurors may be used in Kirby's criminal division trials in some cases.

Kirby said he would confer with Atty. Gen. Frank Holt and Prosecutor John Jernigan before deciding on the best way to meet the court ruling. But he said he might have to quash the current jury panel, which has one Negro, and ask for a new panel with more Negroes.

Officials said the added shot—if successful—would delay the manned effort only about two weeks.

voiced mail fraud. Charles Van Freeman of North Little Rock said that from September, 1959, to May, 1960, he supervised preparation of 2,771,000 pieces of mail advertising for Lenders, of which 15,935 pieces went to North Dakota.

Freeman said he took the job after talking with Alan C. Springer, then Lenders president and one of the defendants. He said he received instructions from two other defendants, Harvey S. Cova and Martin Rye.

Mrs. Dessie Lang of Los Angeles, who said she conducts a mail advertising business, told of mailing for both Lenders Service Corp. of Los Angeles and Lenders Service Co., Inc. The Little Rock company bought the Los Angeles concern.

Home Makers Are Asking For More Beauty And Less Work

Washable plastic surfaces on table tops, floor coverings and wall coverings are easy to care for. So are urethane foam plastic pillows that stay neat and man-made fiber upholstery fabrics.

Who can blame the modern homemaker for insisting on easy maintenance home furnishings which save her time and labor?

Available this spring are eye-deceiving slim contemporary sofas and chairs that offer sink-in comfort with a new construction technique which replaces springs with durable urethane foam plastic. Upholstered in vinyl plastic or nylon, they may be cleaned with an occasional wiping with detergent and water. Vinyl upholstered furniture is appropriate in rooms where elegant damasks and brocades held sway, because this man-made material has the look and feel of textured fabric or fine leather.

Exposed woods in furniture have a quality handrubbed look thanks to tough synthetic finishes. It's these new "dull" finishes which make moderately priced reproductions of early American pieces so hard to distinguish from treasured antiques.

Family-proof dining ensembles include freshly styled casual groups. One set has pink and white ice cream parlor chairs with slats of durable styrene plastic. Traditional groups combine fine natural woods with washable table tops of melamine laminate plastic expertly matched so there is no sacrificing of beauty.

This easy-care plastic is also used in wood patterns on the fronts and tops of modern bedroom pieces, and as decorative accent.

Texture is the big trend in washable floor coverings of vinyl. Illusion of depth and dimension, wood tones, and cobblestones distinguish the newest vinyl floorings that are smooth as wax for easy care, and comfortable under foot.

The new vinyl plastic wallcoverings look like delicate fabric—silk or damask—but thrive on washings.

More Aid to Laos From U. S. Likely

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported planning to give more effective military assistance to the pro-Western government of Laos unless the Soviet Union speedily agrees to a prompt diplomatic solution of the Laotian crisis.

While officials were close-mouthed about the President's decision today, it was believed that initial steps for increased aid would embrace training of the hard-pressed government forces by U.S. military men and probably an increase in firepower through providing more modern types of conventional weapons.

Pro-Communist forces are advancing toward Vientiane, capital of Laos.

Should the situation in the little Southeast Asian kingdom suddenly develop into an emergency threat to the existence of the Laotian government, it is understood that Kennedy would be prepared to consider quickly an appeal for emergency aid on a large scale.

At present, however, officials said privately that there is no serious thought of direct intervention by U.S. forces. The question of some form of intervention, perhaps by countries in the area, may arise when the foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meet next Monday in Bangkok, Thailand. Secretary of State Dean Rusk will leave here Thursday night to attend that session.

Kennedy conferred for 90 minutes Tuesday with Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other top military and diplomatic policy-makers. No further meeting was scheduled today but the President was reported keeping a close personal watch on the Laotian crisis and on the preparation of measures he is reported to have ordered set in motion to deal with it.

Following the White House conference Rusk returned to the State Department and met with British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia and French Ambassador Herve Alphand. Britain and France are members of SEATO along with the United States, Australia, Pakistan, the Philippines, New Zealand and Thailand.

The SEATO membership has been split over what kind of action to take since the situation in Laos flared into a new crisis last December. Britain and France have been strongly opposed to any kind of outside intervention. Thailand and the Philippines felt that the United States should make greater use of the SEATO alliance machinery, which could lead to intervention.

The Kennedy administration's attitude on this point is said to be that if the introduction of outside forces becomes necessary in order to prevent the country from being overrun by Soviet-backed pro-Communist rebels the decision should be made and the action taken on an allied basis rather than by the United States alone.

Thoth the ancient Egyptian god of letters, was known as the clerk of the underworld. He was represented as carrying a tablet and palm-branch.

FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Easter Lamb Takes The Cake

(Courtesy KitchenAid Test Kitchen)

Any youngster's eyes will light up at the prospect of having a lamb cake decorate the dinner table at Eastertime. There's no trick to making one of these cakes, either. A simple pound-cake recipe and standard 7-minute frosting are all it takes. The fun, though, lies in the decorating. Carefully frost the cake and sprinkle it with shredded coconut. For the nose and eyes, use raisins or candied fruit. Top it off with a bright, red ribbon around the lamb's neck and place green tinted coconut on the cake tray.

By L. P. Holmes

THE STORY: The three Spooner boys, Buff, Elvie and Leo, hired hoodlums of Hogan Geer, have warned Chris Waddell, the night marshal, to leave the dive keepers alone. Chris tells the Spooners to be on their way.

CHAPTER XV

Later, through the waning afternoon, Waddell turned into Miller's store. In a partially glassed cubby at the far end of a long counter, Norma Vespasian leaned over a ledger. Lingered at the door of the cubby, making some remark to her, was the younger of Miller's two clerks, who now turned and came over to Waddell. "Something for you?"

Words and manner were studiously casual but could not hide a suggestion of furtiveness which Waddell caught. And now that he had his full look at the fellow he felt he'd seen him somewhere else not too long ago.

"A coat?" monotoned the clerk.

"Over here, please." Leading the way to the coat rack, he showed Waddell a pair of narrow shoulders which sloped steeply away from a thin neck that supported a round and small head. By his attitude the fellow seemed to feel he was a dandy, with an air of superior disdain. But his store suit was shiny at the seat and elbows, and his shoes run over at the heels.

Waddell selected a coat of brown canvas, hip length, and lined with gray blanket cloth. Facing the clerk across the counter while paying for his purchase, it came to him where he had seen this fellow before. Last night, it was. One of the faces in Breed Garvey's deadfall had been this pallid one, with its soft chin and the show of furtiveness about the eyes.

Waddell dropped the coat across his arm and turned to leave, glancing again toward the cubby.

Norma Vespasian's head was bent above her work and the light was such as to throw her profile into clear relief. It was a vital face, with lines of character strongly shaped. Waddell knew a twinge of disappointment when her glance did not come up to meet his own.

From Miller's store, Waddell returned to the office and found it empty. Frank Scobie was nowhere around. Survey of the back room showed that some effort had been made to tidy up, but there was a lingering disarray here that contrasted strongly with the ease of spirit that had come to him during the hours he had spent with Barney Guilfoyle, so now Waddell left the place and headed for his room.

Out back of the Crowder home sounded the uneven clatter of an ax, and he circled the house to find Mrs. Crowder at the wood pile, working with determination but considerable awkwardness. He laid aside his new coat and went quickly over.

"Let me do that."

For a moment she seemed reluctant to surrender the ax, but finally did so, sighing tiredly as she stepped back.

"Lorrie's off running an errand, or he'd do this for me."

"Of course he would," Waddell agreed. "But right now I'm going to do it."

She watched him for a little time then retreated to her kitchen, and for the balance of the afternoon, while the sun dipped and finally slid from sight, he swung the ax with a keen enjoyment.

Presently it was Lorrie Crowder who came past the corner of the house, and he sidled over and stood watching Waddell with boyish gravity.

The boy nodded. "I keep telling Ma to leave the wood chopping for me, but she just won't listen."

He paused, then abruptly added, "The word's out. They're makin' bets on it."

Waddell split a chunk of wood cleanly, then leaned on the ax, meeting Lorrie's sober regard.

"What word, son? What kind of bets?"

"That the Spooners are going to get you. That you won't last out the night. I heard some fellers talkin' it. I near braced up to them and told them off."

Waddell dropped a hand on Lorrie's shoulder. "Don't you ever get into any argument over me, son. Somebody's always making talk. I'll do all right."

From the kitchen door came Mrs. Crowder's supper call. Lorrie hurried in to wash. Waddell set the ax into the chopping block.

Supper done with, Waddell built and lit a cigarette as he went to his room, there to buckle on his gun and don his new coat before letting himself out into the night again.

He tramped the length of the alley and as he emerged into Summit Street, Ace MacSwain's voice reached out from a corner of the Hill House hotel porch.

"Head's up at all times, my friend." The gambler was a dark shadow against the hotel rail.

"Any particular reason, Ace?"

"Don't let them pull you into a bad play."

CHAPTER XVI

Ute Street had begun to growl. All the sounds were there. The harsh cacophony of a hurdy-gurdy, the high, giggling laughter of a dance hall girl, the growl of men's voices, the clatter of their boot heels along wooden sidewalks as they cruised both sides of the street. And yonder a gambling hall barker, casting the false lure of easy money across the night in a hoarse, almost unintelligible jargon.

Violence erupted further along the street. Two men spun from a

Benton Man Seeks Congressional Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sam D. Carson of Benton today became the first candidate to file for a special election to fill a 6th Congressional District vacancy created by the death of Rep. W. F. Norrell of Monticello.

Carson, a farmer, mailed his petition to Secretary of State Nancy Hall. He was a surprise qualifier, having given no previous public indication that he planned to run.

Mrs. Norrell was expected to file late today. Two other candidates, John H. Jones of Pine Bluff and Municipal Judge M. C. Lewis of Hot Springs, have announced.

Filing closes April 8. The election will be April 18.

doorway, went off the edge of the slatted board sidewalk in a tangled heap, then came to their feet again, locked in combat.

Waddell moved in on the tangle, bulling his way through the crush with driving shoulders. A fist aimed at his head but falling short, bouncing off his shoulder. Waddell flashed the fellow a glance and dropped a curt warning.

"I could be seeing you about that, later!" Then he drove on, breaking into the narrow clear beside the fighters.

They had drawn apart momentarily, were gathering themselves for another clash. One a raw-boned, freckled Cornishman, a Cousin Jack, and there seemed no real rancor in him, for, though panting with exertion and already stained with sweat and dirt and some blood from a scraped jaw, he was half laughing, as though this was all a familiar game in which he found a pleasure.

Not so with his opponent, however, a dark, burly Slav with hot and hating eyes, whose shirt had been half ripped away, exposing the upper part of a thick torso.

Waddell, measuring the damage and seeing it not too excessive, held his place for the time. Experience had taught him that often it was better to let a thing like this find its own finish first time out, rather than to break it up with no decision reached, and have it renewed with perhaps far more serious results at a time and place he could not control.

There was no telling what these two were battling over.

The Cornishman scribbled a forearm across his face, blew on a set of skinned knuckles, laughed deep in his throat and began circling his opponent, ready for further fray. He taunted the Slav who charged him like a maddened bull.

He pushed a hand under the remnants of his shirt and brought it out filled with the ominous gleam of naked knife steel. Someone in the crowd yelled at the Cornishman.

"Robbie, look out! He's set to cut you!"

The Cornishman backed away, both hands spread and open before him, as though he would ward off that knife, hold it away from him. There was no careless, wild laughter in him now. What had been, to him at least, a primitive, though brutal game, was no longer such. Now, of a sudden, it was a thing gone deadly.

"No knife, mate, no knife!" panted the Cornishman jerkily.

The Slav was beyond words or reason. His forward shuffle speeded up, and the bulk and unwieldiness of the close pressing crowd, even though it now tried to scatter, held the Cornishman from escape. And then Chris Waddell had the Slav by the shoulder, spinning him hard around, almost upsetting him.

"The knife!" Waddell rapped. "Drop it!"

The man snarled, staring with a sort of blind, unseeing ferocity. He gathered himself to lunge forward. And found the muzzle of Waddell's gun looking him in the eye.

For a moment, Waddell thought he might have to use the gun. Then, slowly, recognition of fact seeped into the fellow's consciousness and the weapon fell into the trampled dust.

"Better," said Waddell. "Now go somewhere and cool off."

The man turned, plunged through the crowd and disappeared into the further gloom of the street.

Waddell retrieved the knife from the dust. The Cornishman eyed it with distaste.

"He was set to do me in. Obligated to you, mate."

"Been no one to blame but yourself if he had. For it's plain you're a proud bucko with your fists. And just because you can handle yourself well that way, don't overdo it."

Moving over to the sidewalk, Waddell thrust the point of the knife between two boards and with a sharp, quick yank, snapped the blade in two and tossed the now useless weapon aside. Straightening, he had his good look along the street, measuring its possible future portent. At this exact moment it was quiet. Then, somewhere at the far end of the gulch, the echo of a single gunshot rocketed against the wide, uncaring sky.

Waddell headed that way.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Balance Is Not Only For Seals

If you are one of 30 million underweight Americans, look carefully to the seal, a champion at balancing. His talent is your cue: Achieve ideal weight, then balance the amount of food you eat with the amount of energy you spend. Underweights do not eat enough to achieve this ideal.

The solution seems simple: Eat more food. But often those who want to gain have small appetites and a limited capacity for food. Nutritionists offer these helps:

- Relax at mealtimes. Some people find mellow music helps. Enjoy your meals. Don't think about the amount you should eat.
- Have set times for meals and eat regularly.
- Keep servings small at first, if your appetite is small. Don't put too much food on your plate. Gradually increase the amount you eat.
- Limit the size of snacks, and time them so they will not spoil your appetite for regular meals. Splurge only after the evening meal.
- Get plenty of rest to make the food you eat go further.
- Exercise to relieve tension, to sharpen your appreciation for food.
- Indulge, as often as you like, in an extra pat of butter, cheese with your crackers, an extra tablespoon of salad oil, ice cream on your pie. Cook your morning cereal in milk.
- Be a real champion in balance. Don't stop with balancing the amount of food you eat with the amount of energy you spend. Be sure to single out liberal amounts of nutrient-rich foods: Enriched or whole grain bread or cereal, milk or cheese, meat or in adequate fruits and vegetables.

Johnson May Try to End Race Tension

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is reported studying a recommendation for intensified training of Negroes to lessen racial job discrimination.

As chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, Johnson has received reports indicating that lack of skills in engineering, chemistry, physics and biology are contributing to a higher rate of unemployment among Negroes than among whites.

He also has been told that union rules which disqualify many Negroes from membership are increasing the number of Negro jobless.

When Johnson was named to head the committee early this month, President Kennedy clothed it with authority to impose stiff penalties on contractors for racial or religious discrimination on government projects. The Johnson committee also took over the duties of the old Government Employees' Committee.

The vice president was reported to have insisted that enforcement operations be placed under Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, named as vice chairman of the group. Goldberg may pass the primary responsibility along to Jerry R. Holleman, as assistant secretary and former labor union official.

This complaints such as that made Monday by Clarence Mitchell of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will be channeled to the Labor Department for review and action.

Mitchell charged in a telegram to Johnson that South Carolina plants holding government contracts are discriminating against Negroes in hiring workers.

Johnson apparently has reserved for himself and members of the parent committee the broad field of policy-making.

One of the factors brought to the vice president's attention is that most Negroes with the opportunity to gain a higher education go into medicine or dentistry. He has been told that it is essential that educational work be done in Negro communities to convince parents that their children should enter other fields which offer greater chance for advancement.

Farmers Against Additional Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing opposition by Arkansas farmers, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has urged the secretary of agriculture not to increase price supports on soybeans.

McClellan, in a note to Secretary Orville Freeman, said soybeans are currently selling 60-70 cents higher than the support price. Freeman has suggested a support price of $2.80 a bushel.

5-Year-Old Is Formosa Hero

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A 5-year-old boy is Formosa's newest hero. A group of children playing at nearby Tamsui Beach were engulfed by a big wave Sunday. As they ran to higher ground, Wang Pi-piao noticed a playmate was missing. Fighting back through the surf, the boy found Wang Kuei-ying, 3, terrified and exhausted, and pulled her to safety.

University Gets Building Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of Arkansas will get a $940,000 loan from the community Facilities Administration to build a women's dormitory to accommodate 200 students.

The CPA announced the grant Monday to Sen. J. W. Fulbright. A Fulbright aide said he did not know when construction would start.

Danny Thomas Family Likes UA

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Danny Thomas family seems partial to the University of Arkansas' chemistry course by correspondence.

Theresa Thomas wants to enroll in that course, and possibly others, the television star wrote Guy Berry, director of the university's extension division.

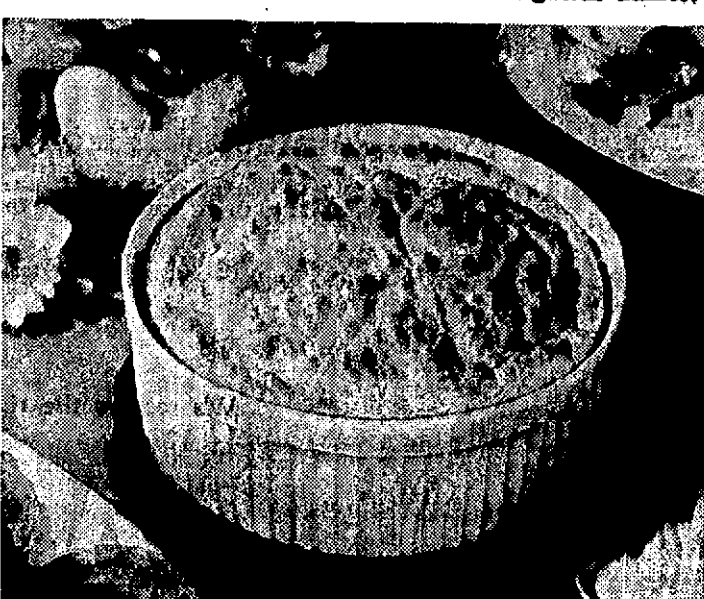

She's following her sister, Margaret, who took a UA correspondence course in chemistry in 1957.
